KWSR's ON THE ROAD

Key West High School Cross Country Runners By: Willie Innes

I have had the opportunity to work out with a highly motivated group of individuals who have decided to come together as a team representing Conch Pride; The Key West High School Cross Country Team coach by Terence White. This team is focused, driven and equally important light hearted and resolute. The tenacity and well rounded character of this team is represented by team captains Brock Guzman and Julian Ramirez for the boys and Elizabeth Czerwinski, Erin Czerwinski & Tristin Milliken representing the girls.

Every afternoon at 4:15, the team comes together for a ten minute gathering in order to muster and begin the daily workout routine. The team begins by a short jog down the ramp from the high school court yard to the running track quickly devouring a ½ mile warm up followed by 15 minutes of stretching lead by Elizabeth Czerwinski; fair warning, slack on the ½ mile warm up and she show no pity for tardiness.

Shortly after the warm up, Coach White quickly injects a few words of inspiration and off they go on one of many different workouts Monday through Friday. Monday and Wednesday's workouts are mandatory and strenuous. Let there be no misunderstanding about High School Cross County; this is not a sport for the frail or tentative souls. If you don't like to run and push all the limits of your physical fitness abilities, don't join in this band of competitors. Coach White daily running assignments include 3, 5, 7 mile runs with longer runs up to 10 miles for the hard core veterans. Moreover, the infamous singles, doubles, triples and quads (1.5 miles) sprinting up and over the ¼ mile Palm Avenue Causeway seems to bring a delightful sense of joy to the Coach as he witnesses his team forming a formidable bond of accomplishment as they become stronger and stronger day by day. Personally, I immediately became aware of how his training agenda increases strength and resolve while his motivational guidance positively impacts each athlete's self-confidence.

The work outs directed by Coach White are directed at individual goals which will in turn help in team competition. In Cross Country competition, lowest score wins which invokes the age old saying: "you are only as strong as your weakest link". Coach White promulgates this concept by allowing the end points of each daily runs determined by the stronger runners, while less experienced runners have the ability to turn around as soon as they see one of their teammates doubling back. This way everyone starts outs and ends together as a team.
